This Criminal Petition filed under Section 482 code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, praying to i) quash the FIR and complaint in Crime No.273/2014, registered by respondent no.1 police, pursuant to the order dated 1.12.2014 passed by II Additional Senior Civil Judge and Chief Judicial Magistrate, Mangalore under Section 156(3) of the Code of Criminal Procedure in P.C.R.No.98/2014, for the offences punishable under Sections 506, 34, 120B, 418, 421, 422, 406, 409, 419, 420, 415 and 417 of IPC at Annexure-A and B and etc;

These Criminal Petitions coming on for Admission this day, the court made the following:

ORDER

These petitions are disposed of by the common order, in the following circumstances.

2. Heard the learned counsel for the petitioner in each of these petitions and the learned State Public Prosecutor who was directed to take notice.

The petitioners in all these petitions are arraigned as accused Nos.1 and 2. The first of the petitions namely, Crl.P.3774/2015, arises out of Crime No.172/2014 which is now numbered as C.C.No.8/2015 on the file of the Court of the II Additional Senior Civil Judge & Chief Judicial Magistrate, Mangaluru. It was alleged by the complainant in each of the petitions that the petitioners and four other persons were running a company in the name and style of "Vraksha Business Solutions India Ltd., situated at Utility Royal Towers, II Floor, K.S. Rao Road, Mangaluru and were involved in collecting deposits from the public for a fixed period and interest was to be paid on the said deposits, to the depositors. The business of the company was widely publicized through media and investors were invited from the general public. Respondent No.2 in all these petitions was an agent for collecting money from the public and they had deposited the monies so collected, to the company run by the petitioners. On maturity of the fixed deposit period, it transpires that the company did not refund the monies collected from the public and there were repeated requests by such depositors to the agents, who were the complainants in the cases. Since there were evasive answers to the queries and demands made by the complainants, the complainants had approached the court and the same was registered as an First Information Report (FIR), as already stated.

The second respondent in the present petitions are all complainants who are similarly aggrieved. Each such complaint being separately numbered as an FIR and individual criminal cases having been initiated against the petitioners, the petitioners are before this court.

3. The learned counsel for the petitioners would draw the attention to the observations of the Supreme Court in the case of T.T. Antony vs. State of Kerala and others 2001 (6) SCC 181, wherein it is observed that an information given under sub- section (1) of Section 154 of the Cr.P.C. is commonly known as a First Information Report (FIR), though this term is not used in the Cr.P.C. It is the earliest and the first information of a cognizable offence recorded by an officer in charge of a police station. It sets the criminal law into motion and marks the commencement of the investigation which ends up with the formation of opinion under Section 169 or 170 of Cr.P.C., as the case may be, and forwarding of a police report under Section 173 of Cr.P.C. It is also possible that more information than one are given to a police officer in charge of a police station in respect of the same incident involving one or more than one cognizable offences. In such a case, the Supreme Court has observed that the police officer in charge need not enter every one of them in the station house diary and this is implied in Section 154 of Cr.P.C. All other informations made orally or in writing after the commencement of the investigation into the cognizable offence disclosed from the facts mentioned in the FIR and entered in the station house diary by the police officer or such other cognizable offences as may come to his notice during the investigation, will be statements falling under Section 162 of Cr.P.C. And that no such information or statement can properly be treated as an F.I.R. and entered in the station house diary again, as it would in effect be a second FIR and the same cannot be in conformity with the scheme of the Cr.P.C.

The Supreme Court has, by way of illustration, postulated a situation in which A having killed B, his wife, informs the police that she is killed by an unknown person or knowing that B is killed by his mother or sister, A owns up the responsibility and during investigation the truth is detected; it does not require filing of fresh FIR against A - the real offender who can be arraigned in the report under Section 173(2) or 173(8) of Cr.P.C., as the case may be. It would of course be permissible for the investigating officer to send up a report to the concerned Magistrate even earlier that investigation is being directed against the person suspected to be the accused. Therefore, the Supreme Court has concluded that under the scheme of the provisions of Sections 154, 155, 156, 157, 162, 169, 170 and 173 of Cr.P.C., only the earliest or the first information in regard to the commission of a cognizable offence satisfies the requirements of Section 154 Cr.P.C. Thus, there can be no second F.I.R. and consequently there can be no fresh investigation on receipt of every subsequent information in respect of the same cognizable offence or the same occurrence or incident giving rise to one or more cognizable offences. On receipt of information about a cognizable offence or an incident giving rise to a cognizable offence or offences and on entering the F.I.R. in the station house diary, the officer in charge of a Police Station has to investigate not merely the cognizable offence reported in the FIR but also other connected offences found to have been committed in the course of the same transaction or the same occurrence and file one or more reports as provided in Section 173 of the Cr.P.C.

It is also pointed out that the Government of Karnataka, Police Department has issued a circular No.L&O/Misc./24/2015-16 dated 30.07.2015, wherein it has been stated that any subsequent information the Investigating Officer receives with regard to any incident out of the same incident or with regard to any incident out of the same transaction, he shall not register further crime numbers but he shall treat that information as the statement of the witnesses either under Section 162 of Cr.P.C. or under Section 161 of Cr.P.C. in the earliest case registered. Therefore, he would submit that it would save precious judicial time and the pending proceedings could be conveniently disposed of if the earliest case registered on the same set of circumstances is taken as the main case and all subsequent complaints are made as statements made in the said case and to that extent, there would be no prejudice caused to any of the complainants, as the relief sought for by the complainants is to punish the petitioners for the alleged offences which could be conveniently tried on one single case and therefore, would seek the indulgence of this court to allow these petitions in terms as prayed for.

4. The learned State Public Prosecutor would not dispute the legal position as sought to be interpreted with reference to the judgment of the Supreme Court as well as the circular issued by the State.

Consequently, the petitions are allowed. The court below is directed to treat the case in C.C.No.8/2015 as the main case and all subsequent complaints which are the subject matter of these several petitions be treated as statements by the witnesses and the cases could be tried as a single case, on the strength of the evidence of the several complainants who would be treated as witnesses. If any further complaints are registered, since there are large number of investors involved and it is more likely that in future other cases would be filed, in respect of such cases arising out of the same set of circumstances, the same rule shall be applied by the prosecution in taking those cases, recording the statements of such complainants as statements made in the course of investigation. In the event there are any private complaints filed under Section 200 Cr.P.C., the same shall be brought to the attention of the court that the above order has been passed whereby if such additional cases either by way of a police complaint or a private complaint is instituted, they shall be treated as statements made in the pending cases aforesaid.

I.A.1/2015 in all the petitions stand disposed of.
